

Electrix in Melbourne

Written by Surveillance Taiwan

Tuesday, 26 April 2011 20:14 - Last Updated Wednesday, 05 September 2012 15:16

ELECTRIX, now part of NMW(National Manufacturing Week) is Australia's definitive electrical industry exhibition. Its a leading exhibition for the electrical industry, Electrix attendees are often key decision-makers keen to discover the latest in electrical accessories, switchgear, lighting and construction technologies. Many also attend for networking and to make industry contacts.

Who attends? Exhibitors include cable and busbar manufacturers, Communication engineering companies, Computer and communication technology, hi-tech electrical components and accessories, products and new techniques, industrial equipment and accessories, controls, programmable logic controls (PLC's), smart building technologies, enclosures, storage tech and more.