TAITRONICS, or Taipei International Electronics Show (Chinese: 台北國際電子展) is a trade show held every October by Taiwan External Trade Development Council and Taiwan Electrical and Electronic Manufacturers' Association to promote electronic industry in Taiwan since 1974.

Taitronics Taipei is a unique trade and exhibition fair for all businesses involved in the electronic equipments business. Hosted at the Taipei World Trade Center Nangang Exhibition Hall, this event offers features for the electronic research experts and top engineering professionals and manufacturers based in Taiwan. The show focuses on electronic equipment ranging from wires, cables, batteries, power sources and batteries, and consumer electronic devices, to important safety instruments and RFID and other tools. Taitronics shares its location with the BROADBAND Taiwan event.
